Italian-German Warships Forming Spanish Blockade

Virtually Blockade Loyalists From Receiving Aid From Outside

MAY FIRE UPON FOREIGN VESSELS

Italy Says No Sudden Unprovoked Action Will Be Taken By Fascist Regime

By FRANK GERVASI
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROME, June 2.—Italian and German warships were in position today to form a virtual blockade of the Spanish coast against foreign vessels carrying men and munitions to aid the Loyalist government at Valencia.

The blockade, it was understood, will seek to "discourage" all ships from reaching Loyalist Spanish ports.

Well informed quarters expressed belief the Italian and German vessels would be ready to fire upon ships which refuse to be "discouraged" and this view was confirmed by an authorized spokesman.

Prepare For Emergency

Although preparations for an emergency which might arise from the Spanish-German crisis over the Almeria bombardment continued quietly in Italy, the government here took an important step to calm international tension by assuring Britain through diplomatic channels that the Fascist regime will undertake no sudden, unprovoked action which might aggravate the situation in any way.

This was interpreted as an in-

PA NEWC OBSERVES

There are no new detours of any consequence in Western Pennsylvania according to the current Detour Bulletin, although the red marks are beginning to increase in the state as a whole. Most of the detour marks seem to center around Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

City firemen are now attired in new blue cover-alls, which bear a maltese cross in red on the back with the letters "NCFD" in white and the initials of the owner over the pocket on the front. The color is a deep blue, and as soon as the new uniforms have been tailored to fit the individuals, all will be dressed alike. It will also help to save the clothing of the wearers when they are fighting fires.

Vatican And Germany In Diplomatic Rupture

(International News Service)

ROME, June 2.—The Vatican today virtually severed diplomatic relations with Germany by withdrawing its nuncio from Berlin just as the Reich recalled its ambassador to the Holy See.

Both Germany and the Vatican left their charges d'affaires in the posts vacated by the envoys.

The situation was officially described by the Vatican as a "semi-rupture in diplomatic relations."

"This," a Vatican spokesman said, "is a sad and unhappy affair and will have unfortunate repercussions on the life of Europe."

Follows Berlin Protest

The step followed a protest by Berlin to the Vatican over the recent speech of Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago, in which he vigorously criticized the Nazi regime. The German government had demanded an apology from the Holy See, which was not forthcoming.

There was no clarification of the Vatican's description of the situation as a "semi-rupture" in relations. It was obvious, however, that the Vatican had elected to stand by Cardinal Mundelein and decided to ignore Germany's demand for official renunciation of his attack.

Indications were that Pope Pius recently completed new "White Book" protesting against persecution of Catholics in the Nazi Reich would be published shortly.

Chancellor Hitler considers that normal relations between Germany and the Vatican have ceased to exist until the Vatican repudiates the recent Chicago speech by Cardinal Mundelein, it was made plain today from Berlin.

Enactment Of Gov. Earle's Relief Program During Week Is Seen

POOR BOARD PLAN WILL BE SCRAPPED

By FREDERICK N. POLANGIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, June 2.—Enactment of Gov. George H. Earle's proposal to consolidate the administration of relief and public assistance and final adjournment of the 132nd legislature by Friday was assured today.

But with the enactment of the relief program it appeared there would remain many unhealed wounds within the Democratic majority.

Backed against the wall by determined and admittedly desperate Earle administration leaders, the House Welfare committee reluctantly released early this morning measures to:

Many Chain Stores Will Be Closed If Tax Bill Is Signed

Two Concerns Announce Plans To Close 150 Stores In Philadelphia Area

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, June 2.—To eliminate $75,000 in taxes under the chain store bill, now awaiting only Gov. George H. Earle's signature to make it law, two chain grocery concerns today had announced the closing of 150 stores in the Philadelphia area.

The action taken by officials of the A. and P. company and the American Stores company threw hundreds of persons out of employment. Additional hundreds will be left jobless with the closing of more stores throughout the state if the governor signs the measure, chain officials said.

"If the bill does not become law, they will be reopened, but if the governor signs it, they will remain closed," said an A. and P. spokesman. "The stores closed are the ones which do not do enough business for us to keep them open and pay $500 tax on each."

The A. and P. has 2,000 stores in Pennsylvania and the American chain about 1,800. The tax, provided in the chain stores bill, ranges from $1 for a single store to $500 for the stores over a total of 500.

Report Two Planes Crack Up Landing At Warren Plant

(International News Service)

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 2.—Two planes, defying the CIO's "strike or starve" blockade instituted in an effort to force working employes out, cracked up today while landing on a new field inside the Republic Steel Corporation's plant at Warren, O.

Both planes were damaged and one of the pilots was injured. How severely was not determined as he was not taken to a hospital but treated inside the mills.

Steel Workers See Long Siege

C. I. O. Engages In Strenuous Organizing Campaign At Youngstown

SEVERAL SURPRISE MOVES REPORTED

(International News Service)

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 2.—The CIO engaged today in a strenuous organizing campaign as 32,000 striking steel workers prepared for a long siege with a settlement in the steel strike seemingly further away today then when the strike first started.

In a surprising move at Cleveland, Edward Lamb, Ohio counsel for the CIO, entered suit in Ohio courts in behalf of a Republic stockholder, Robert N. Northrup, seeking to enjoin the corporation from using company funds for "strike breaking purposes." The suit also asked recovery of $1,000,000, assertedly used for the purchase of tear gas, machine guns, and other weapons.

Guns For Guards

"I never knew a steel plant that didn't have guns," replied Tom M. Girdler, president of Republic Steel, in answer to a question. It was Girdler's first press conference since the opening of the extensive strike which has paralyzed plants of three large independent steel corporations —Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, and Inland Steel—and put close to 80,000 men out of work in six states.

"We have to protect our property," continued Girdler, "and our

Neutrality Act Application Is Not Advised

Hull Advises President Against Action In Almeria Bombing

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull has advised President Roosevelt strongly against application of the Neutrality Act against Germany in the aftermath of the Almeria (Spain) bombardment, it was learned today on high authority.

President Roosevelt has let it be known he will flatly reject congressional demands that the arms embargo, now existing over Spain, be extended to include the Reich.

Hull, it was learned, advised Roosevelt that extension of the arms embargo to include Germany because of its reprisal following the Deutschland bombing incident, would seriously endanger efforts Hull is making to keep the major powers on a friendly footing, thus preserving peace.

Such action, state department officials believe, would cause the gravest resentment by Germany against the United States.

Foster Memorial To Be Dedicated

America's Best Beloved Bard Will Live Again At Pittsburgh Ceremony

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 2.—America's best beloved bard, Stephens Collins Foster, will live again tonight as his plaintive melodies echo through the vaulted arches of the beautiful memorial erected to his memory on the University of Pitt campus.

Hundreds of persons will crowd their way into the beautiful building at the dedication ceremonies tonight and the music that Foster so feelingly wrote when America was young will be mellowed as it is sung by the soft light shining through the memorial's soft-tinted stained glass windows.

Participating in the ceremonies will be Kathryn Meisle, celebrated Metropolitan Opera star, Chancellor John G. Bowman, and a string ensemble of the Tuesday musical club, which worked for ten years to make the memorial possible.

Mass singing of Foster's most beloved melody—"Old Folks at Home" —will close the dedication.

Congress Will Start Probe Of Tax Avoidance

Numerous Miscellaneous Sales Taxes To Be Extended Two Years

LONG BATTLE IS AHEAD IN CONGRESS

Senators Take Steps To Provide For Probe As Requested By President

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Administration leaders today moved for speedy congressional adoption of a resolution extending the $500,000,000 in miscellaneous taxes for two years, while preparing for a sweeping investigation of tax avoidance as requested by President Roosevelt.

The house ways and means committee was called into session by Chairman Doughton (D) of North Carolina, with a request for immediate approval of the continuing resolution, which embraces the federal gasoline tax, three-cent postage and similar levies.

Threat of delay was seen in demands of western members for new import taxes on agricultural products, including higher levies on pork, soy beans and oils.

May Open Probe At Once.

The congressional investigation of tax avoidance by wealthy taxpayers may be opened immediately. A conference was planned by Senator Harrison (D) of Mississippi, chairman of the senate finance committee, and Doughton to agree upon a plan of procedure.

Congressional leaders in tax affairs turned down the request of Mr. Roosevelt to arm the treasury with subpoena authority to conduct an investigation of its own. Instead, the leaders proposed that congress itself make the inquiry with the treasury merely acting in an advisory capacity.

The president's tax message opened what may be a bitter summer battle over taxes. Demands for legislation included:

1. Elimination of tax-exempt bonds and making all government employes subject to either state or federal taxation, by Senator Byrd (D) of Virginia.
2. Revision of corporate surplus

No Action Taken By Grand Jury At Norristown

Trial In Death Of Former Publisher's Son-In-Law To Be Delayed

(International News Service)

NORRISTOWN, June 2—The Montgomery county grand jury today refused to indict Joseph J. Mc Ginley, 69, former Norristown publisher accused of killing his son-in-law, Dennis A. O'Neill, by slashing his throat with a razor.

O'Neill, an attorney and a Democratic leader, died from loss of blood after his throat was severed during an altercation in his home with McGinley early last Saturday morning.

District Attorney Frederick B. Smillie requested the grand jury to return an indictment against McGinley so the trial could be held at this term of court. Since the grand jurors ignored Smillie's wishes in its presentment to Judge George A. Corson, the case cannot be tried before next fall.

Among those who testified before the jurors was Mrs. Eleanor O'Neill the widow, who has declared she intends to "stand by my father." McGinley is now at liberty under $25,000 bail.

Grove City College Student Is Drowned

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, June 2.—Twenty-one-year-old Edward Scholl of West Elizabeth, Pa., one of the most popular students at Grove City college, was drowned and a companion, knocked unconscious in a valiant effort to save him, was rescued by a co-ed attending a picnic and swim party Tuesday along Slippery Rock creek, near Keisters, eight miles from here.

Among the many Grove City students who saw Scholl swept off by the current was his sister, Sally, a freshman at the college.

Scholl, the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Scholl and popular president of the Epsilon Pi fraternity and leader in many college activities, was walking along the Slippery Rock bank with his companion, John Lowry, Butler. Scholl's foot suddenly slipped on a rock and he was thrown into the current. Lowry plunged in to rescue him and while trying to grasp his friend was knocked unconscious.

Charlyne Wilson, Grove City, a college student, quickly jumped in and swam out into the deep stream to rescue Lowry. She brought him ashore and he was revived.

Twenty minutes after the accident the body of young Scholl was recovered in 20 feet of water by another Grove City student, Ray Geiser, Beaver Falls.

Efforts to revive him with pulmotors failed.

Earmarking Eliminated As Relief Bill Passes House In Long Session

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Driven virtually intact through a revolting house after leaders had invoked presidential intervention, the $1,500,000,000 relief bill went to the senate today where an economy bloc threatened to reduce it by $500,000,000.

Center of a two-weeks storm in the lower chamber, senate administration leaders moved to thwart a group led by Senator Byrnes (D.) of South Carolina, intent on reducing the appropriation to an even billion.

The measure was finally passed, 323 to 44, in a midnight session of the house after insurgents, bent on earmarking the huge allocation, were beaten back.

Quell Uprising

The uprising, begun two weeks ago in a house appropriations subcommittee which sought to cut the appropriation one-third, later spreading to the floor where insurgents earmarked $505,000,000, was quelled only after Majority Leader Rayburn had brandished the demands of President Roosevelt before the members.

The battle ended in route for the revolters. During a turbulent 12-hour session the leaders succeeded in:

1. Defeating an amendment, 230 to 147, earmarking $300,000,000 for public works.
2. Turning back a proposal to

Religious Wedding Ceremony Is Not Given Approval

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 2.—The Archbishop of Canterbury, spiritual head of the Church of England, declined today to approve a religious wedding ceremony for the Duke of Windsor.

The Rev. R. Anderson Jardine, who agreed to perform the church ritual tomorrow, "acted without my consent or knowledge," said the Bishop of Fulham, after a conference with the archbishop.

Monts, where the Duke and Mrs. Wallis Warfield will be wed, and all other continental European parishes of the Church of England, are under the jurisdiction of the Bishop of Fulham.

Osborne Held After G-Man Is Shot To Death

(International News Service)

GALLUP, N. M., June 2.—Captured in a cowboy's disguise shortly after his G-Man captor was shot and killed, Guy E. Osborne, 24, was held under heavy guard today awaiting prosecution for the murder of Truett Rowe, department of justice agent.

While J. Edgar Hoover, federal bureau of investigation chief, was organizing by long distance telephone a manhunt for Rowe's killer Police Chief Kelsey Presley arrested Osborne several miles south of here last night.

The fugitive, mounted on horseback and wearing a cowpuncher's togs, gave up without resisting when Presley and Policeman Les Mahoney ordered him to surrender.

Tony went to Philadelphia last night to give an exhibition and all he ate was:

Twenty-six squabs, a pound of boloney, a pound of veal, three loaves of bread, half a pound of potato salad, eight apples, two quarts of wine, three pints of beer and a bit of celery, pickles and olives.

Although some thought the two dozen eggs and half a ham he had for lunch had something to do with it, Tony insisted it was the hot weather that forced him to forgo dessert.

Two Plants At Ambridge Are Affected—Two In Beaver Falls

AFFECTED PLANTS BEING PICKETED

(International News Service)

BEAVER FALS, Pa., June 2—More than 2500 workers were idle in the Beaver Valley today as the result of a series of new strikes.

The three newest tieups threw 1,900 employes out of work at the National Electric Products Company, Ambridge, and its subsidiary, National Metal Moulding company, also at Ambridge; 300 men at the Moltrup Steel Products Company, Beaver Falls, and 125 men at the Ideal Foundry Machine Company, Beaver Falls, a subsidiary of Union Drawn steel. Union drawn steel, a subsidiary of Republic Steel, was closed by a strike of 285 men last week.

All the affected plants were being picketed today.

Religious Ceremony To Unite Noted Pair On Thursday Morning

LATEST PLAN IS REAL SURPRISE

Civil Ceremony Will Precede Religious Rites By English Clergyman

By KENNETH T. DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright 1937)

MONTS, France, June 2.—At the hands of an obscure English clergyman who volunteered for the task without consulting his superiors, the Duke of Windsor and Mrs. Wallis Warfield will be married in a religious ceremony at the Chateau Cande tomorrow.

The officiating prelate will be the Rev. R. Anderson Jardine, Vicar of St. Paul's Darlington.

His willingness to perform the ceremony despite the Church of England's flat refusal to sanction the wedding will gratify a wish dear to the hearts of the former British king and his American-born bride-to-be.

They had virtually abandoned hope of having anything more than a civil ceremony when the Rev. Darlington volunteered, possibly risking condemnation by his ecclesiastical superiors.

Prepare For Ceremony

As a result of the decision to hold a church ceremony, the Chateau De Cande is now being rapidly converted.

An altar is being put into place and white satin cushions are being brought in for those who will kneel at the wedding service.

The Rev. Jardine arrived at the Chateau this morning.

In view of the sudden developments, plans regarding the wedding guests have now been entirely changed. Under the new plans,

SAN JUAN, P. R., June 2.—Maintaining a clockwork schedule, Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam hopped off from San Juan on the second leg of her round-the-world flight at 6:40 a. m., E. D. T., today.

She headed for Caripito, Venezuela, hoping to make the hop in four and one-half hours.

Despite the early hour, a crowd was on hand at the airport to besiege the famous aviatrix for autographs and candid camera poses. Her monoplane was fueled with 400 gallons of gasoline.

Mrs. Putnam plans to continue on to Paramaribo, Guiana, after a brief halt at Caripito.

MASS FUNERAL IN CHICAGO

Bury Victims Of Clash Thursday

Huge Force Of Chicago Police Guard Entrance To Republic Plant

DIVIDED INTO THREE SHIFTS

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 2.—With 44 men who took part in the fatal riot near the Republic Steel plant here Sunday scheduled to appear in court today, it was decided to hold mass funeral service for the six victims of the riot tomorrow, following the disposition of the cases.

CHICAGO, June 2.—While six companies of tense police guarded the Republic Steel Corporation plant, thousands of steel strikers and sympathizers gathered in South Chicago today for the funeral of the six men slain in Sunday's rioting between police and C.I.O. union strikers seeking to shut down the Republic mill.

As plans for the funeral were being carried out rumors reached police of further violence in the offing. Chief John Prendergast of the uniformed force mobilized 948 policemen, who were divided into three eight-hour shifts to guard the plant entrances.

Bodies of the six victims were to lie in state at Eagles Hall, headquarters of the Steel Workers Organizing committee, in South Chicago, until 2 p. m. today when a mass mourning ceremony will be held.

Expect Huge Crowd

Twenty-five thousand strikers and sympathizers were expected to attend the rites as the strike against the three independent steel producing companies entered its second week.

The latest of the six to die from gunshot wounds incurred in the rioting was Anthony Tagliore, 26, a Republic employe.

Charges that communists helped to provoke Sunday's March on the plant and the subsequent battle with police were made by police following the disclosure at the inquest yesterday that one of the men slain was a communist and not a steel worker.

He was Joseph Rothmund, 47, a WPA worker. His wife told the coroner's jury he was a member of the International Workers' Alliance and was not a steel worker nor a member of the Committee for Industrial Organization Union.

there will be no guests at the civil ceremony—at which the only witnesses will be representatives of the press.

Mrs. Warfield Is Serene

Monts, France, June 2—On the eve of the climax of her historic romance, Mrs. Warfield today remained serene and calm. Masterfully and gracefully, she took command of the situation, and as one friend phrased it "ran the entire show."

She gave attention to even the most minute details of music, decorations, the guests and their comforts, disposition of the hundreds of gifts that have arrived and packing of their luggage for the trip.

Floral decorating of the romantic and ancient chateau for the wedding, already was begun.

Today it seemed as if the entire chateau were studded with romance and the whole Touraine countryside steeped in it.

The wedding was the only topic of conversations anywhere for miles around. Pretty girls and young lady tourists came in a constant stream to stare at the chateau before seeking out reporters and others in an avid quest for details.

And the army of correspondents who will spread the news of the marriage, all over the world continued to swell. They descended on Monts—ordinarily a sleepy little French village—from many quarters of the globe—the United States, England, Italy, Austria, Sweden, and of course, all parts of France.

LABOR RELATIONS BOARD IS NAMED

firm them today, as exclusively disclosed by International News Service last week, the three members were:

Levi G. Lichliter, of Jennerstown, former chairman of the State Securities commission, to serve six years; John F. Breslin, of Summitthill, Carbon county, state personnel director, to serve four years and P. T. Fagan Pittsburgh, president of district five, United Mine Workers, to serve two years. Their salaries will be $9,000 a year.

The McGinnis law is almost identical to the Federal Wagner Act, applying to industries and business organizations operating intra-state exclusively.

The law departs from the federal statute in one respect: It contains an "equal rights" provision, which prohibits a labor group from denying membership to its group because of race, color and creed. This provision was bitterly opposed by labor but its omission dangerously threatened the bill's enactment.

are summed up in the following letter: "This street, as you know, is a dirt street, next to Long avenue, it is perhaps the most travelled on street of the South Side. Autoists use this street to avoid the signal light on Long avenue and to get out of so much traffic. Therefore, we have to put up with clouds of dirt and dust. In this warm weather when we want our doors and windows open we have to keep them closed. As for oiling the street, we do, but it doesn't last long enough to do any good. With so many cars passing all the time it can't last long. After a rain the water coming down from Reynolds street hill washes all the oil away also. We feel that this street should of been one of the first streets paved. Last year we appealed to council and were promised paving in the spring. According to the paving program it won't be done until next year, if then. We want it done this year."

J. A. McGowan, of Butler, formerly the "Hitch Hiking Burgess of Prospect" was a visitor in New Castle for a short time today, enroute to his home in Butler. Although 78 years of age, he is still hale and hearty and is continuing to "hitch hike" a method by which he has toured the country many times. Likewise, despite his age he is in the political battle in Butler county being a Democratic candidate for Jury Commissioners. He'll win hands downs, he reports.

LEGISLATURE MAY CONCLUDE FRIDAY

poor board system and state emergency relief administration created during the Pinchot regime, and establish in their stead a new department of public assistance, operating locally through county assistance boards to be appointed by the governor.

The measures were amended by the so-called home-rule element in the welfare committee, but not so as to in any way affect the broad phases of the program, to cost $137,000,000 during the next two years but expected to save local taxpayers some $10,000,000. The measures have been approved by the senate but must return there for concurrence in amendments.

There was little doubt but that the Democratic high command has sufficient votes to jam through the proposal, last stumbling block in the chief executive's "mandate" program standing in the way of sine die adjournment.

Local Director Offers New Plan In Funeral Service

A. Darrell Burke, prominent Funeral Director, has a new modern method in his pre-arranged funeral payment plan. It provides an easy and convenient Time Payment Burial Contract to anyone who is desirous of providing, during his or her lifetime, a suitable burial for himself or herself, or any named beneficiary at the time of his or her death.

Mr. Burke started this new plan only two weeks ago and it is surprising the number of people who have taken advantage of it.

Mr. Burke says the average person has little ability to judge the worth of funeral service. They know nothing of comparative cost and have neither the experience nor the inclination to judge funerals from more commercial aspects. That is why so many are finding it greatly to their advantage to talk over the new Pre-arranged Time Payment Burial Contract with Mr. Burke.

All payments involved in the contract are immediately invested in bonds of the United States Government and said bonds held, subject immediately to the purpose of the contract. Money, in case of emergency, may be withdrawn at any time.

For further details, call A. Darrell Burke, phone 4950, or visit him at the Funeral Home, 319 N. Jefferson St.

COUNTRY FIREMEN

RATHER tardily a movement begins to prevent the heavy losses from fire in the rural districts. During the last year 3500 persons perished and property losses amounting to $255,000,000 occurred because of the burning of farm homes and other buildings.

Until quite recently the hastily-formed bucket brigade afforded the only fire protection in the districts outside of municipalities. Because the buildings were isolated, their total loss usually was expected when fire broke out.

But with the improvement of highways and the general use of telephones, it has been found practicable to organize rural volunteer fire departments. Under the new conditions, such facilities are able to afford protection for all buildings within a radius of 10 or 12 miles of the department headquarters.

Also much has been gained for safety by teaching youths of the 4-H clubs to make periodic inspections of farm buildings to remove fire hazards. Some of the money appropriated for the benefit of agriculture might well be spent in perfecting means of lessening fire risks, providing fire-fighting equipment and helping in the organization of local fire departments.

In the loss of a farm home many values are involved not easy to set down in an appraisal.

THE EXPENSE OF SPEED

One of the interesting discoveries with regard to automobile motors is that when you step on the gasoline your gasoline expenditure mounts with your speed. Thirteen makes of automobiles were tested to find out if it applied to them all. The result was uniform, disclosing that oil as well as gasoline consumption mounts.

The following is the tabulation of tests announced by the American Automobile association:

30 miles an hour, 18 miles per gallon.
60 miles an hour, 12.6 miles per gallon.
80 miles an hour, 8.6 miles per gallon.

Oil consumption is seven times as great at 55 miles as at 30 miles.

This is, we suppose, no concern of a person who starts out on a trip at eighty miles or more per hour. Doubtless he never worries about the bill—his widow can take care of it out of the insurance money.

HAPPINESS AND WEALTH

In all societies man feeds more upon abstractions than upon facts. He is most content who finds his kingdom in his mind. Such was the teaching of the days when the right to the pursuit of happiness was written into the Declaration of Independence, and the doctrine is not yet dead. Yet the tangible and negotiable things are what appeal to most people in this age of utility and comfort.

There are any number of men and women, both young and old, in whom is happily blended theoretical and practical factors in the securing of happiness.

The right to happiness can well be viewed through the bestowments which have come through an era of prosperity and progress. The ratio of happiness may not be higher than when the dictum of the Declaration was written, but it is certainly just as high in some people.

Not all Americans find happiness in the accumulation of money, in increasing their business profits or in acquiring material possessions. It is not uncommon for young men and women of this severely criticized and depreciated age to choose that path in life which gives them the most mental satisfaction though less opportunity to amass a fortune. They are the true creators.

EXPERTS RUIN A GAME

Now that horseshoe pitching has been taken from the alley and the barnyard to a position second only to golf among the sports patronized by all men, and summer resort hotels with access to golf courses also possess horseshoe pitches, or whatever they are called, a great wrong is being done this fine pastime. As it was in golf, so it is in the game of ringers and leaners—the amateur is being discouraged.

The federal census does not record how many golfers have broken or given away their clubs and retired from the game with a lifetime average of 112 because they have read too much about the feats of Bobby Jones or Lawson Little. It would make an interesting investigation.

Now the occasional pitcher of horseshoes is treated to the performances of Ted Allen, of Alhambra, Calif., world champion. Mr. Allen, who uses a one and a quarter turn toss, allows a man to sit on the stake, and without disturbing him, proceeds to throw one ringer after another. He stands a man with a paper bag on his head in front of the stake and pitches a shoe which removes the bag and pins it to the peg. He allows two men to interpose a blanket between himself and the stake and tosses an infallible succession of ringers over it.

Since reading about Mr. Allen, we have forsworn horseshoes.

TIME FOR REAL GUIDANCE

The commencement season is a fitting time to consider the lament by Owen D. Young that 2,000,000 young graduates each year are thrown into a world with which they somehow can not gear themselves, and in which they may remain dangerously idle. Addressing the National Industrial Conference Board, the General Electric board chairman found the emergence of impressionable minds from school into an unreceptive economic environment one of our major pressing problems.

If one-fourth of graduates between sixteen and twenty-five remain unemployed, as Mr. Young estimated has been the case recently, and 5,000,000 such young persons are not only idle at any given time but potentially fertile soil for plausible yet dangerous isms, both schools and industry must consider this a mutual responsibility. For after young graduates remain either idle or misfit vocationally for a few years it becomes increasingly difficult to mesh them into fast-moving social and economic conditions.

With radical groups and dubious activities luring youth, Mr. Young pleads for jobs and guidance because "in twenty years these young people will be the mature citizens whose voices will determine largely what kind of country we will have." Hence patriotism joins common sense in requiring that young graduates be started right.

Bathing beauties who never go near the water have been relieved of unfair competition, now that strip-teasers belong to the ages.

A gadget that will automatically determine the age of an egg has been perfected by a Briton. If the device makes a sound like "peep! peep!" the hen fruit has been in the incubator too long.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PERSONALITY IMPORTANT

Many teachers already have been appointed for next year. Many others still are to be appointed. The training and personality quality of the teachers selected mean more to us parents than we realize. The destiny of many a child is determined when his teacher signs her contract. How well she will be liked by him, how well she will inspire him to want to learn, and the ideals and habits of character she will engender in him may be the major measure of his usefulness as a citizen, and his personality, mental health and character.

Fortunately, there are numerous school districts with men and women serving as school directors or trustees, with wide unselfish civic interests, who think only of the welfare of the children. But, unfortunately, there are all too many school districts in which all or part of the school board members lose sight of the children and are guided in their official action by sinister selfish motives.

Until the depression struck this country, the quality of men and women serving on the various local school boards in the United States seemed to have evolved to a relatively high order. However, we must admit that on some of these board were those who ought now to be in jail, who placed school build-

I'M A HAT-RUINER

Occasionally a friend will mention that he sees I've just had my hair cut. . . . Or that I have a new pair of shoes. . . . Or that suit I'm wearing is new.

But I can't remember any body ever remarking that I have a new hat. As far as they can see, the hat I have on is always an old one, that I've had it for years, or that I bought it second-hand from a little shop in an alley.

It's not that I don't ever have a new hat. I do. Once or twice a year I go into shop and hold serious discussion with a salesman. I tell him my size, which is 7⅛. I tell him I want a soft hat. I let him know I'm willing to look at a brown hat or a cream hat or a blue hat, but in the end I'm sure to buy a gray hat. I find one that fits me fairly well, that he declares is "perfect." He puts my initial on the inside and I pay him for it. . . . I walk out the door under a very swell new hat.

And by next morning it looks as though I'd crawled under an automobile wearing it, or as though the door had worried it around the house. . . . I don't know why that is. I have a friend who says he's seen me pull a hat down on my head with both hands, punch it in a couple of places, and walk away serenely convinced that I look as natty as the Duke of Windsor of the old days. . . . But I deny that. I've been very tender with hats and still they've collapsed and gone raggamuffin on me.

And I've about made up my mind that I'm just naturally a Hat-Ruiner. There are some women, I understand, who can't wear pearls. Some emanation from their skins ruins the lovely bubbles and they sicken. That's the way I am with hats. I like them, but they don't like me. Put the niftiest hat ever made on me and it goes shapeless. Loses its pride and surrenders all pride of workmanship. . . . It's very sad because I'm not one of those fellows who can go without a hat. If I leave it off, my hair soon looks like a chicken after the puppies have mauled it. . . . I'll confess it's a pretty hopeless problem and I despair of solving it. But I wonder how many other men there are in the world who ruin every hat they put on their heads . . . and why we are like that.

THE CURE

What's wrong with me
Never cured will be
With anything sold
In a pharmacy.
No grave M. D.
Though wise be he
Could check the fever
Now burning me.

X-rays won't show
Why I'm aching so,
They could peer inside
But they'd ever know;
They could stand and stare
And their notes compare,
But they'd have no cure
For the pains I bear.

But there is a cure,
I am very sure,
For the constant ache
That I now endure.
It's to hear the whine
Of a silken line
As a bass has taken
That bait of mine.

It's a day to dream
Where the sunbeams gleam
On the blossomy banks
Of a silver stream;
For the pangs I feel
Only rod and reel
And the joy of the great
Outdoors can heal.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 7:23. Sun rises tomorrow 4:32.

The floor shows in New York clubs are getting so hot the policemen say they cannot look at them only when their duty compels them to look. Those shows sure must be hot all right.

The senate of Pennsylvania passed a bill that would permit coroners to allow those charged with murder and manslaughter out on bail. That may be all right in some cases, but most of the murderers should never be left out until after the chair has done it's work and they can do no more murdering.

Judge: "What was the prisoner doing?"

Officer: "He was having a very heated argument with a taxi-driver yer honor."

Judge: "But that doesn't prove he was drunk."

Officer: "Ah, but there was no cab driver there, yer honor."

The best angle from which to approach a problem is a try-angle.

In some states there is talk of laws governing trailers. It will not be long until the trailers, along with the trucks and busses will make it impossible for private cars to get anywhere on the roads. Regulation surely will come before a great portion of the people are killed in traffic smashes.

A mother was recently disturbed over the two-day absence of her daughter, but everything was all right when the girl returned with a Gideon Bible under her arm.

There must be some value in spinach. Note how a chicken's digestion is improved by sand.

When courts are called on to rule on clothing that is being worn now some funny decisions are made. One court ruled that a woman could wear shorts or anything she wanted to as long it did not offend. One judge said "The Constitution still leaves some opportunity for people to be foolish if they desire." Lots of places in New York don't even require any clothes for the actresses.

No disgust is equal to that of a bird who is beaten at his own game. It is always an unfair game as a rule.

Money may stick to a cashier's hands like a hang nail but it isn't nearly as painful.

The New Castle dog catcher killed 278 dogs during the last four months. He could have made it an even 300 if he had scouted around up our way. Wonder why he keeps out of the finger bowl district?

Succotash is just a name that resulted from a friendly association.

When water becomes ice there is a chemical action, but the greatest change that takes place is the price.

You can make others contented and happy. Just mispronounce words that they know how to pronounce.

A female member of the Federal Prison Bureau advocates the abolishing of county jails. That would never do as it would take away a nice place for some birds who would rather be in jail than out—especially at Thanksgiving and Christmas time. They eat better than those on the outside looking in on some days.

LIFE'S LITTLE AGONIES

The customer rushed into a bird store and accosted the proprietor.

"Say," he said to the man behind the counter, "you said the tortoise I bought from you would live 300 lives, and it died the very next day after I bought it."

The dealer yawned. "Now, isn't that too bad," he said. "The only way I can account for that is that the 300 years must have been up."

A nice lawn that has taken a lot of money and work to build don't mean a thing to dogs and some people. And you can't take the law into your own hands and there is no cop around when he is wanted in such cases.

THE DISTINCTION

Judge (as prisoner about to give evidence on his own behalf is sworn) "Have you a lawyer to represent you?"

Prisoner: 'No, sir. I am going to speake the truth."

They say that the sound of a giant gun travels at the rate of 1,087.13 per second, which is almost half as fast as a rumor.

A noted painter says he never thinks when he works. After seeing some works of painters we have thought that ourselves. There is no work that does not require thinking if it is to be done well.

A little boy from the city, who had been in the country was describing to another boy friend the big pig he had seen.

"It was in a little yard with a fence around it," he explained. "And it was afraid of the little pigs. They'd chase the big pig around the yard, and after he fell down the little pigs pounced on the big pig and ate the buttons off his vest.

Too many fellows try to get where they are going in life by traveling in the wrong direction.

There isn't a man living old enough to remember when politicians admitted that prosperity was actually two blocks away instead of just around the corner.

RIVER FLOWS UPHILL

It nas been figured out by the United States Geological Survey that a point at sea level on the equator is about 13 miles farther away from the center of the eagth than a sea level point at either of the earth's poles. Their calculations show the mouth of the Mississippi river to be four miles farther from the earth's center than its source. Thus, it may be said the "Father of Waters" runs uphill. This phenomenon results from the water in the river obeying the laws of gravity, which cause it to run from the higher surface level at its source to the lesser one at its mouth.

The click of needles the creak of a rocker and the tick-tock of a grandfather's clock were all that disturbed the silence of the room. With childish curiosity little Ellen sat watching the purls and stitches.

"Why do you knit, grandmother" she asked.

"Oh, just for the hell of it," the old lady replied.

Now we are told that perfume can be made from apples. Well, some real potent red eye can also be made from apples and it has a nice perfume before and after it is used. It is not so good after it is guzzled.

Folks who would teach their children to eat pie with a fork, are so reluctant to give the kids a piece to practice on.

A 7-year old overheard his family discussing a picture of Queen Mary and her three grandchildren.

"Well," he said, 'this is the first time I ever knew Queen Mary was a person I thought she was a boat."

Killing only convicted murderers, France's No. 1 executioner is nothing more than a rank amateur. Not fit to associate with such big league slaughterers as field marshals and international statesmen.

Wiping away a tear hurriedly gets a lot more sympathy than crying out loud.

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Pat. Office.

By Francine Markel

DEAR MISS MARKEL—I am very tall as well as stout and my daughter suggests that I can make myself look smaller by proper selection of clothes. Please give me some hints.—AMAZON.

Answer—Avoid small hats with dainty or tiny trimmings. Do not wear dreses trimmed with narrow pipings, a few tiny buttons, tassels, etc. And never carry a very small handbag. But do not go to the extreme of wearing too large patterns and accessories as these will call attention to your size. And do not forget "the law of areas" which requires that the larger the space covered the duller the color to be worn. Leave very bright colors to your smaller friends.

DEAR MISS MARKEL—"Men never make passes at women with glasses," says Dorothy Parker, but I am one of those unfortunate ones who must wear them all the time. Please advise me as to how I can best counteract this effect.—AMBITIOUS.

Answer—They appear best with hair arranged over the forehead in a soft, irregular line and with brimmed hats. With hair down severely back from the forehead this increases the appearance of age and primness.

Prices May Drop Some.
Will Robinson Be Named?
Suggests New Language For Us.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist

PRICES MAY DROP somewhat this summer. Orders on goods are tapering off, because sales are tapering off.

Somebody will have to take less profit. Perhaps two somebodies—the manufacturer and the retailer.

Increased wages—they never will be absorbed unless there is large enough production to warrant very reasonable prices, or vice versa.

ROBINSON?

Will Senator Joseph T. Robinson get that supreme court vacancy?

Not if President Roosevelt does not get his supreme court bill. If the bill wins, one conservative out of several will not count so much. Liberals, outside the senate, are organizing a formidable opposition to Robinson.

Incidentally, the liberal demand for a supreme court "reform" is as strong as ever. More unions seem to be for it now than previously. That is because John L. Lewis had added unions to his organization.

AT HOME

The additional unions will make considerable difference to the one-third of the senate up for re-election in 1938.

One of the big fights will be for a liberal Democrat to succeed Republican James J. Davis in Pennsylvania.

Democratic senators who have become anti-New Deal will find things pretty warm for them when they return home following this session—if one can guess from the present temperature of the unions.

FADING?

Failure of the American Federation of Labor meeting in Cincinnati to make first pages—because of the activities of the John L. Lewis unions—is taken as an omen in the industrial centers.

The A. F. of L. is fading as a factor.

LETTER

The United States should forswear English and speak a language of its own—if not that, speak Spanish or Latin. That is the suggestion of James G. W. Costello of San Diego, Calif.

He writes:

"Thanks to you for the fine article on the subject: British propaganda to have the U. S. join the British Empire. . . . Apparently the only way to nullify British propaganda is for the U. S. to adopt and learn a language of its own."

Mr. Costello prefers Spanish—"it's the one thing needed to make Latin-America like us, really."

PLANNED ECONOMY

To save ourselves, we must have planned economy, according to William Owen, of Washington, D. C.

"Injustice and greed of a ruling class always have caused the collapse of society," writes Mr. Owen. "It was true in Greece, it was true in Rome, it was true under the feudal system, and it was true in the revolutions of France and Russia.

"It is true now! For under laissez faire capitalism, don't we find that the volume of output is adjusted to the market, i. e., to those who have money to spend; not to capacity to produce; nor to the country's need as a whole for consumable goods; nor to the needs of the working people for employment . . .

"Millions of unemployed could be put back to work in private industry, and if they were, the new wages would provide the purchasing power to absorb the increased production.

"This could be done by having planned boards figure the normal demand for commodities and having the government guarantee to purchase, at cost price, production within that amount for which there was no market . . ."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

PLENTY AT HOME

Americans planning for a summer vacation have a great deal from which to choose and they do not have to patronize steamships or obtain books of foreign travel. There is plenty in their own dooryard. If they care to visit summer resorts on Bays, Lakes, Rivers or Mountains, where in the world are there such great opportunities?

Right here in Western Pennsylvania, there is plenty to occupy their attention. You can travel a long ways before you find such streams as the Slippery Rock and Conoquenessing. If you take a motor car, nowhere will you find more interesting roads than those through the Blue Ridge Mountains down thru Pennsylvania, Maryland and the Virginias and such drives will not take you far from New Castle. There are the White Mountains, the Adirondacks, the Great Lakes, and the great wide-flung ribbins of motor roads that made an Englishman traveling over them for the first time say: "My, word! Where did you get the money with which to build these great highways?"

As an example: I left Los Angeles one afternoon; drove out through the San Fernando Valley, stopped near Calabasas to peak at a "wild farm farm" which raises deer, pheasants and such commercially, for the people who wish to stock estates on what have you; drove in past a mountain resort with a fine trout stream; drove out to run into a company, including Jack Oakie and Ann Sothern, which was shooting scenes in an utterly wild country; went on through Topanga Canyon, in which there are still wild deer and mountain lions; bame back along the sea and was back at my starting place a little after five o'clock. The trip had taken me through twenty kinds of scenes and all the changes from absolute wilderness to the heart of a metropolis, with such good roads through it all that the actual driving time was less than three hours.

SYRACUSE, N. Give blind obedience to my conscience, my life, my goal and in return I will give you glory, prosperity, security.' I tell you this promise is never kept, has never been kept, will never be kept and cannot be kept."

ings at inaccessible places or made them of extravagant materials, in order to put money into their own pockets. Teachers and children will be paying the penalty for years to come. Nevertheless, there had grown up an ideal among school boards generally that the school superintendent is the professional head. During his term of office his recommendations in respect to the curriculum, text books and choice of teachers were honored, as a rule, by the board. When the board lost faith in his professional leadership they properly chose another superintendent in his place.

Refuses Dictation.

Now, the country over, the average school board is no less ready to fire a school superintendent. But the reason for dismissal is hardly for his inefficiency as professional leader, but rather for his refusal to let individual members of the board dictate to him in strictly professional matters. In some instances the only public defender of the children is the superintendent; and now and then a courageous one goes down while an indifferent public looks on.

If the information I have gathered from interviews with scores of leading school superintendents and civic leaders from coast to coast is correct, there never was a time during the last half century when the average school superintendent was so hampered by politicians on the board of education or elsewhere as at present. Just look about and listen in your own community. Observe the disgraceful measures being resorted to—I hope you don't find them in your community—in order to force the superintendent of schools to appoint or reappoint incompetent teachers. When you see applicants for teaching positions and book agents interviewing members of the board, especially in towns and cities, you know very well the welfare of your children is endangered.

Some Painters Return To Work In Wage Dispute

Settlement Is Made Between Some Contractors And Men It Is Stated Today

The painters had asked for an increase in wages from 75 cents to $1 per hour, along with a change in working conditions, and were offered 90 cents an hour by the contractors.

New Assessor Board Takes Over Duties

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., June 2.—Luzerne county's new board of assessors, named by Auditor General Warren R. Roberts, today took over the office here as the ousted board moved for a constitutionality test of the assessor board "ripper" act passed by the current legislature.

Judge W. A. Valentine today signed the writ of mandamus setting June 14 for a hearing on validity of the measure, placing in the hands of the state auditor general the appointive power of third class county boards of assessors. Although the inaugural test of the legislative enactment is expected to come before the local court, it was indicated other third-class counties would join in protesting the removal of present boards.

Camp Leaders Are Announced

Girl Scouts Will Take Over Camp Phillips Two Weeks In August

DAY CAMP ALSO BEING PLANNED

Camp was the man topic for discussion in the Girl Scout headquarters Tuesday night, where Girl Scout council convened for the last time this season, with the commissioner, Mrs. C. M. England, in the chair.

From Miss Elizabeth Reis, chairman, Mrs. Paul Butz and Miss Della Glenn of the camp committee, council heard the complete plans for an attractive two weeks at Camp Phillips, Kennedy's Mills, beginning August 8, ending the 22nd.

List of Counselors

Miss Eleanor LeFevre, New Castle's Girl Scout director, will direct the camp this year. With her will be Mrs. Mary Guy as unit leader; Donna Jean Beall, dramatics counselor; Eleanor Yingst of New Kensington, head swimming counselor; Ruth Tate of Uniontown, and Eleanor Throop of Bessemer, her assistants; Angeline Castrucci, nature work; Irene Kirschner of New Brighton, archery; Mrs. Sidney Smith, formerly of New Castle, now of Buffalo, N. Y., in charge of pioneer unit, assisted by Mary Grimes; Julia Marshall of Youngstown, O., in charge of gypsy unit, assisted by Mrs. Ernest Gustoh of Sharon.

Registrations are being taken at the Girl Scout office from noon to 5:30 p. m. daily and from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m., on Saturday, in charge of Janet Brenneman.

The "international" theme will be followed at Camp Phillips this year. Girls 10 to 11 years old will be in the England group; 12 to 13 years old, France group; 14 years and up, Switzerland group; girls with one year of camp experience, in Italy group; and those with two years in pioneer unit, Roumania group.

Day Camp Plans

Of interest, too, are the preparations for day camp to be conducted July 12 to 16 and July 19 to 23 at Cascade Park. Miss Margaret Toepfer, chairman of the day camp committee, and Miss Regina Popp announced that Miss LeFevre will be the director and that there will be a full program of outdoor scouting, including nature lore, hiking, signalling, craft, mapping, archery, campfire meetings, songs, games, outdoor cooking, photography, dramatics and, for second class scouts, pioneering.

As last year the charge will be ten cents a day to cover swimming, serving of milk, and so forth.

Stadium Pageant Raises $521.50

Three School Bands Share Festival Proceeds; Final Check Made

Taggart stadium's coronation pageant on the night of May 25 raised $521.50 for the benefit of school bands here, it was reported today. The sum became known after the festival's committee met with others of the School Music Council, the supporting citizen's group, at Senior high school last night.

Treasurer Alfred H. Owens told Richard E. Rentz, general chairman of the affair, that gross receipts of the outdoor program were $609.75 and that expenses amounted to $88.25. That left $521.50 to be divided between participating musical groups.

It was announced today that the Senior high band will receive $446.50 to add to its present fund for new band uniforms. Ben Franklin junior high's band will receive $50 and the Croton school band $25.

The colorful evening festival drew a throng that almost filled the stadium. Over 700 students participated in it.

Fire Police Make Protest Against Ban On Privileges

READING, Pa., June 2.—Because more than 100 Reading and rural Berks county fire policemen's privileges are in danger of being abolished by a proposed law, a letter of protest today went to every member of the State Legislature from Clarence H. Beck, this city, secretary of the Berks County Firemen's association.

All of the 14 Reading and nearly 40 rural Berks fire companies have two special policemen at fires, with the powers of deputy sheriffs.

The proposed law prohibits the employment of special deputies in certain classes, including those for duty at fires. An exception is made for deputies providing a $60,000 bond, on which the yearly premium would be $600.

Penn State Gets Safety Awards

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., June 2.—The Pennsylvania State college's schools and departments have been recognized in two groups of awards issued by the State Department of Labor and Iudustry for alertness in prevention of accidents of all kinds, J. O. Keller, assistant to President Ralph D. Hetzel in charge of extension, said today.

Certificates of honor, recognizing perfect safety records, with no lost-time accidents reported, were won by the Schools of Education, the Liberal Arts, Mineral Industries, Physical Education and Athletics and the Nittany Lion Inn.

The entire college, representing all schools and departments, won a certificate of merit for a safety record better than the average in the state-wide accident prevention contest. The Schools of Engineering and Agriculture, the department of grounds and buildings and the service division were also presented these certificates.

Full Crew Bill Signed By Earle

Bill That Will Cost Carriers $10,000,000 Additional Becomes Law

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 2—The controversial railroad Full Crew bill was written on the state's statute books today amid warnings from Pennsylvania carriers that it will cost them an additional $10,000,000 a year and contentions of the administration and railroad brotherhoods that it will increase employment and safety.

The act becomes effective immediately but Gov. George H. Earle, who signed the bill last night, indicated it would not be administered until railroads have had a "reasonable enough time to comply with the requirements.

It was believed the governor would instruct the Public Utility Commission which will enforce the act.

The measure sets up limitations in the number of engineers, firemen, conductors and brakemen for various sized trains.

Auto Registration Bill Is Defeated

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 2.—Finally scuttled in the senate early today was the Reising bill to change the automobile registration date from January 1 to May 1.

Passed by a close vote in the house after one defeat, the measure sponsored by Rep. Peter Reising, D., Beaver, went down by a vote of 20 to 21 in the upper branch.

Reising argued his bill would make the registration date coincide with the beginning of the fiscal year.

The honor students appeared on the program, assisted by graduates with particular musical talent. Supt. H. M. B. Lehn awarded the special prizes and Dr. W. F. Rossman, president of the board of education, awarded the diplomas.

Lions Club Honors Two Vets Of 1861

Attorney Patterson Speaks As Club Pays Tribute To Old Soldiers

Two Lawrence county veterans of the Civil war—the only two of the surviving few who could attend this year—were honor guests Tuesday, as the Lions club, at its weekly luncheon, paid its annual Memorial Day tribute to the soldiers of '61.

They were D. M. Clark, Mt. Jackson, commander of Post 100 of the Grand Army of the Republic, and Edwin L. Ayers, a veteran who resides in the Pulaski district.

The two old soldiers sat in honored seats as Attorney Clarence A. Patterson, the principal speaker of the day, delivered a fitting Memorial Day message. Mr. Patterson, introduced by Joseph B. Leyde, paid a personal tribute to the stalwart vets before him in his message on a patriotic theme.

Present also as guests were Carbis A. Walker and O. J. Allison, president and secretary, respectively, of the Lions club of Winston-Salem, N. C. Mr. Allison, in a brief talk, told of the activities of his organization.

SWISSHELM GRIST MILL

Do you know that parts of the foundation, mill race, wheel, and the two millstones of the old Swisshelm Grist Mill near Swissvale, in Allegheny county, still remain on the original site?

The exact location is about 700 feet south of the street car line at the junction of the old Nine Mile road and Braddock avenue in the Nine Mile Run Hollow. Swissvale is located on Braddock avenue between Edgewood and Rankin, suburbs of Pittsburgh. This mill was the property of William Pollock prior to 1800. In 1808 he transferred same to John Swisshelm, father of James Swisshelm, who operated the mill in 1856 as a saw mill. He cut timber and turned chair rungs, etc.

Much of the history of the old mill is shrouded in mystery. No one seems to know when the mill started or when it ceased grinding grist.

Noted Here And There In Other Newspapers

False alarms are nothing new to New York firemen but even they were a little vexed when they clanged up to the home of Mrs. Sally Graham and learned they had been summoned only to assist the stork in delivering a 7-pound girl. Her sister, Mrs. Dorothy Legault, of Washington, explained in court that she had turned in the alarm because she had been advised, when action was wanted in an emergency, to call the fire department.

Wheatland claims to be the first town in the United States to erect a monument to volunteers who served United States in the World War. It is a patriotic little town and Memorial Day was really observed there.

Little Old Lady Nature cut some curious capers the other day at East Greenville. First she playfully hurled a terrific bolt of lightning into the vicinity of Fourth and Main streets, and in the same instant played safe by setting off the East Greenville fire alarm. The logic of that was instantly apparent but her reason for setting off the tear gas bandit-protection equipment in the National Bank, at the same time, is yet to be explained. And they are wondering too, why she should have wanted to put the radio in the fire house out of working order.

The Nazarene Young People of the New Castle zone had a rally Monday at New Brighton. Good speakers and singers made up an interesting program for morning, afternoon and evening.

At Boise, Idaho, the other day, a sailor was licensed to marry a shipp. The applicants were Mabel Forrest Sailor and Alvie E. Shipp.

MANILA, P. I.—U. S. High Commissioner Paul V. McNutt, too, comments on war: "War is a nightmare from which, we hope, civilization some day may awaken."

As we understand the Sat. Eve. Post, soil erosion isn't a menace because Roosevelt is trying to stop it and he's wrong about the Supreme Court.

TO THE TAXPAYERS OF LAWRENCE COUNTY:

We call the attention of the taxpayers of Lawrence County to some provisions of the law relating to the collection of taxes in Lawrence County.

COUNTY AND POOR TAXES

The Act of 1851, which has been applicable to Lawrence County since 1852, relates to the payment of County and Poor taxes and the collection of the same.

REBATE PERIODS

Under the provisions of said Act of 1851 the County Treasurer is made the receiver of taxes for the two earlier periods of each year. During the first period, which ends on August 1, the taxpayer may pay his taxes to the County Treasurer and receive a rebate of 5 per cent. This is not the general law of this Commonwealth, but is a special law relating to Lawrence County and some other counties. To fully appreciate the benefits of this law to the taxpayer of Lawrence County it is only necessary to remember that by it the prompt taxpayer gets the benefit of his promptness instead of the tax collector getting that benefit.

PAYMENT AT FACE PERIOD

The second period in which the County Treasurer is the receiver of taxes begins on August 2nd of each year. Under said Act of 1851 and the Act of May 1, 1933, there is a certain period within which the taxpayer in Lawrence County may pay the taxes to the County Treasurer at face, without being delinquent.

WHEN PENALTY ATTACHES

After the expiration of what might be called the "at face period," the taxes go to the delinquent tax collector, who adds five per cent to the taxes, which is his compensation for collecting.

ABATEMENT ACTS

Several Acts of Assembly have been passed in recent years in relief of delinquent taxpayers. The latest of these is the Act of April 14, 1937, which grants to the delinquent taxpayer certain rights and privileges, but does not take away from him any rights and privileges which he may have acquired under any of the former acts.

ABATEMENT UNDER ACT OF 1937

This Act of May 14, 1937, provides that under certain conditions, the taxes for the year 1934 and all years prior thereto may be paid at face without either penalty or interest, and that all taxes for the years 1935 and 1936 may be paid without penalties, but with interest, provided advantage is taken of this privilege on or before November 1, 1937. If a taxpayer pays all his taxes for the year 1936 and all years prior thereto, he will have the right to do so whether or not he has paid his taxes for the year 1937.

FIVE YEARLY INSTALLMENTS ALLOWED

Said Act of April 14, 1937, also grants to the delinquent taxpayer another important right and privilege. That is, if he pays his taxes for the year 1937 before they become delinquent, he may pay his delinquent taxes in five equal annual installments, paying one-fifth on or before November 1, 1937; one-fifth on or before November 1, 1938; one-fifth on or before November 1, 1939; one-fifth on or before November 1, 1940, and one-fifth on or before November 1, 1941. However, in order to continue to have this privilege of paying in five equal annual installments he must continue to pay all the current taxes during the said five years. Otherwise he loses the right which he had already acquired. If this plan is carried out, there will be no interest on the taxes for the years 1935 and 1936 after the payment of the first installment.

PROVISION FOR OTHER TAXES

The Act of 1851 above referred to applies to the County and Poor taxes, only, but the Act of 1937 applies, not only to counties but also to cities, boroughs, townships and school districts, and the taxes due and payable to them may be paid under the provisions of said Act.

SEPARATE PARCELS MAY BE SELECTED

Advantage of the Act of 1937 may be taken as to a separate parcel of land without taking advantage of it as to any other parcel of land which may belong to the same taxpayer.

WHERE TAXES ARE PAYABLE

Taypayers desiring to take advantage of the Act of April 14, 1937, will pay their County and Poor taxes to the County Treasurer, and city, borough, township and school taxes will be paid to the local collectors as heretofore.

THIS STATEMENT NOT DIGEST

This statement is not intended as a digest of the law, but is rather intended to put the taxpayer on inquiry as to his rights.

GEORGE H. BOLINGER,
FLOYD COTTON,
JOSEPH HANNON,
County Commissioners.

—The Only Tire That Gives You Golden Ply Blow-Out Protection

IT'S NO time to gamble when you're sitting behind the wheel of your car. Sooner or later you're bound to lose—and when you do, you may have to settle up for plenty.

That's why we say, "Come in now and let us equip your car with Goodrich Safety Silvertowns." Because no other tire will give you the marvelous protection of the Life-Saver Golden Ply—a layer of special rubber and full-floating cords, scientifically treated to resist the terrific blowout-causing heat generated inside all tires by today's high speeds.

Union High Has Class Night At School Tuesday

Graduates Poke Fun At Fellow Classmates In Program Tuesday Evening

An audience of about 600 students of Union township high school and their parents, were present Tuesday evening, to watch members of the graduating class celebrate their class night. Honored with high positions, members of the class held seats on the stage of the school auditorium throughout the program.

A well-planned program was presented, through which medium all of the faults, good traits, pranks and other activities of the students were told to the audience, through history, a knocker, the class prophecy, and the graduate's will.

The program opened with several selections by the high school orchestra, and was followed by a message of welcome from the class' president Frank McGrew.

Robert Elmore brought forth in a novel and interesting manner the history of the class throughout their entire school career. Witty and amusing remarks were employed by the class knocker, Roderick Edwards in poking fun of his fellow class mates.

The senior ensemble was called upon at this time for the selection "Alita." Those in the ensemble include: Rod Edwards, March Miller, Chester Gierlach, Jack Pattison, Robert Elmore, and Frank McGrew. Later in the program this group made another appearance and this time they were aided by George Heckart.

Vera Teece fortold the future of the graduates in the Class Prophecy. A poem written for the class by Wanda Kochanski was read by her at this time.

President McGrew called Principal R. F. Conway forward at this point, and presented the school with a gift from the class.

Donors, Marsh Miller and Howard Cochran entertained the audience with their remarks.

The last Will and Testament of the class was read by Shirley Stowe, followed by the class singing a song written for them by Chester Gierlach. Gierlach wrote both the words and the music for the selection. The program closed with a selection from the school orchestra.

Men Interrogated In South Chicago Strike Battle Claim Violence Expected

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 2—Prosecution of high officials of the committee for industrial organization as the result of Sunday's steel riot, in which six men were slain, was threatened today after assistant states' attorneys concluded questioning of a score of participants in the battle.

Morris G. Myers and Alexander Napoli, the prosecutors, finished the questioning at a nearby police station.

Meyers said that three of the men interrogated told him they were instructed by CIO officials before the Sunday riot to use violence if necessary to establish a cordon of pickets about the Republic Steel Corporation's plant at 118th street and Green Bay avenue.

He refused to name the three men or the CIO officials they said gave them the order.

The prosecutor said:

"The men told us that the poles to which placards they carried were attached were to be used as weapons if they met resistance."

Berle's Rise Is Phenomenal

Young Comedian's Success Might Be Titled "Rise of A Smart Alec" Mc-Intyre Says

BOY FRIENDS OF SHOW GIRLS MILKED

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 2.—No entertainer has more successfully withstood the collective Broadway boo than the young comedian, Milton Berle. Because of his fresh manner he has from his beginnings been a thorn in the street's side. Others like him have been vanquished by scorn, but not Berle.

O. O. McIntyre

He carries on with impudent grin—rising from coffee and cakes to a several-thousand-a-week performer. In many ways he expresses the same brashness that once characterized the now sedate and well beloved George M. Cohan when he was yowling his Yankee Doodle stuff.

Berle's career might well be labeled The Rise of a Smart Alec. Yet those who know him say it was only a part of his act. Away from the footlights he is unusually shy, and despite his feigned sophistries is a typical Mama's boy. She is his constant companion.

He went into the old Palace as a fill-in act and wound up a headliner held over for many weeks. He then wowed them in cabarets, landed a top bracket job on the radio and later was taken to Hollywood to be featured in films. And at 30 is rich enough to rest on his own oars.

There is a gaiety about those perky open-until--2 a. m. hat and gown shops upstairs over Broadway and around the side street corners in the 40s. Each is staffed with a Peter Arno type of proprietress, known as "Modom", and a bright girl assistant or so. Most of the customers are show and cabaret girls who drop in between or after shows, usually with a boy friend to pick up a few bargains. The moment the girls and their beaux enter flattery is turned on, faucet-like. The big play is to the boy friend—and he is given "the works", often so expertly he finds himself on the business end of a half dozen purchases when he only intended to look around.

Few virtues are more appealing than frankness. At a dinner to several intimates the other night the host, whose spread was sumptuous, had a jar of buckshot-sized Beluga caviar at his plate side which he alone dipped into. Nor did he offer to share it. As he made his third canape, he explained: "This is my sole extravagance and I never share it. Only one in a thousand has a true taste for caviar anyway." Somehow we all warm to a forthrightness, even though it is a violent digression from ordinary courtesy.

From Fred Niblo: "Your sympathetic comment on William Faversham with his 'chin up' and the many other Favershams going over the lost horizons with heads high painted a picture that few of the younger world will understand. It was fine." Every day at the Lambs and Players there appear vanquished valiants of the stage who have been unable, as have so many, to indulge in the bounties of Hollywood. Most of them are living in far away rooming houses, several flights up and all the way back, but there is never a whimper. They give the impression that so far as they are concerned everything is on the up and up.

Charles Phelps Cushing, one of the Kansas City Star alumni, is probably dean of New York free lances. For a quarter century he has been prowling about the metropolis with camera and note pad—catching unusual views and picking up stray stories of interest. A pipe smoking bachelor, he has spent most of his time in the city in a West Side apartment. His own boss and doing only the things he really wanted to do, he expresses the true spirit of the free lance.

Bill Corum picking up a bullet in the hip and a few Page 1 headlines at a downish hour a recent morning shows what can happen to a Boonville, Missouri, boy in the big city, violating the curfew law. From his Louis XVI suite in a totsy tavern Bill can look down upon me at my daily chores. As a younger man and a fellow Missourian I have tried by precept and example to impress upon him the virtues of hard work and regular hours. Now and then I have tried to dazzle him at my beside-the-window seat with something hellish in the way of lounging robes. Once I even let him gaze upon my Lanvin yellow ensemble with the purple sash—but evidently to no avail. He's simply not the esthetic type of litterateur. He has shown plainly that he would rather go his way, keep his own hours, even if he has to be shot.

When modesty was modesty: I can think of no small town characterizer that has ever touched Rose Wilder Lane's description of the severe and reserved woman, who held herself as straight as a ramrod, and always buttoned her gloves in privacy. To her intimates she sniffed: "A lady never appears in public until fully dressed.

AROUND CITY HALL

City officials were greatly pleased with the large attendance at Cascade Park opening, 20,000 reported at the recreation center. It was the first time for years that such a large crowd was at the park according to Superintendent C. C. Coulthard. Cascade Park is one of the most beautiful centers in western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio. To top this off there are some amusements for children. When the bathing pool is open the park will prove even more attractive.

Councilmanic colleagues of Mayor Charles E. McGrath hopped to his suggestion recently that no contractor or agent take orders for oiling streets unless the contractor or agent first obtained a city permit. Only bonafide persons now will be able to do such work. There is nothing in the proposed ordinance which which will prevent property owners from oiling their own streets.

It was refreshing to learn that there were no serious automobile accidents in or outside the city, Memorial day, or Monday. Autoists are becoming cognizant to the fact that sane driving on a day when traffic is heavy results in a minimum of accidents. The city police, it might be said, have been instructed to watch for speeders. The motorcycle policeman is also on the job.

Placing of three probationers regularly on the fire department shows that the city has not only adopted a rule whereby not only police but also firemen must serve an apprenticeship. Should a fireman not be considered capable after serving three months in the department he will not be named to the bureau. Police officers must serve a several months course at the State police school at Hershey before they are placed on the force.

Where once there were two offices there is now only one in the county commissioners' corner of the court house. Workmen on Monday tore out the partition between the office of the registration bureau and the commissioners' private office in order to provide space for the files of the permanent registration.

The county commissioners are now without an official home. Nothing has been done thus far to provide them with quarters and it is likely that for a time they will continue to use the end of the registration office or perhaps use one of the jury rooms on the second floor.

The proposal to build an addition on the west side of the court house in the south corner is being talked of around the court house again. This would provide additional space for several of the offices and perhaps provide quarters for some of the offices which are now in private buildings.

Supplies for the registrars who will register the rural citizens are now being bundled up and will be ready for delivery probably by Thursday night when the newly appointed registrars meet for instructions.

The registrars of all the 58 precincts in the townships and boros are expected to be in the court house on Thursday night to get their instructions on procedure. The registration days have been set for June 8, July 6 and August 10.

Beer licenses have been issued by the county treasurer for the forthcoming twelve months, the licenses being operative from June 1. A number of licenses have not been called for due in some cases to the fact that the applicant decided to ask for a hard liquor license. A number of other licenses have been refused for various reasons. The district attorney has notified the county treasurer that there is some complaint against the applicant and the licenses have not been issued in these cases.

Cupid got away to a fast start in the marriage license bureau. Saturday and Monday were heavy with applications and the balance of the month will probably see more licenses issued than have been issued in any other one month of the year thus far.

A short session of motion and petition court was held Monday morning by Judge James A. Chambers. There will probably be little court the balance of the week, but on Monday next the grand jury meets to consider the indictments which will be handed up to it by the district attorney.

ADMINISTRATION MEASURES GET COURT TESTS

Supreme Court Grants Reviews

Validity Of Power Grants For Construction Of Municipal Utilities Is Issue

NUMEROUS DECREES GIVEN BY COURT

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The supreme court, on the last day of its eight months' term, on Tuesday announced the grant of reviews which will bring constitutionality of three administration measures before the high court next fall.

The court granted an appeal by utilities' interests to test validity of federal power grants for construction of municipal utilities, validity of the Home Owners Loan Corporation Act and a new phase of the gold clause abrogation law.

At the same time the high court denied a petition for review of constitutionality of the Wheeler-Rayburn Utility Holding Company law, another petition of the Tennessee Valley authority for immediate review of its power expansion plans. The court sustained lower courts in two important National Labor Relations Act rulings.

Action By Court

Action of the court in administration cases included:

1. Granted petition of Alabama Power and Iowa City Light and Power Company attacking validity of PWA loans and grants to cities to build municipal power plants, including an attack on PWA provisions of National Industrial Recovery Act.

2. Granted petitions sponsored by Robert A. Taft, Cincinnati lawyer and son of the late chief justice, for review of two cases in testing right of government to pay called gold clause liberty bond interest in paper money.

3. Granted petition of Gertrude Kay, alias Gertrude Klein, who was convicted in federal court in New York of soliciting fees from applicants for HOLC loans. She attacked validity of law on the grounds congress did not have power to create a private bank.

4. Denied a petition of Electric Bond and Share Co., for review of lower court decision upholding Wheeler-Rayburn Utility Holding Act, thus postponing any decision until case has passed through circuit court of appeals.

Denies T.V.A. Petition

5 Denied a petition of T.V.A. for review of sixth circuit court ordering a trial in Tennessee federal courts in suit of 19 utilities charging that huge electric power expansion program of T.V.A. is invalid.

6. Denied a petition of independent workers of Clayton Mark and Co., Chicago steel products manufacturer, asserting that the National Labor Relations Act under which board orders election by workers is so drawn as to unconstitutionally prevent judicial review.

7. Denied petition of El Paso Electric Co., attacking constitutionality of Labor Relations Act as applied to its business. Even though company imports power from New Mexico, it contended that it was essentially a local business and did not come under law. Effect of court's subject to it.

Administration Disappointed

Administration lawyers were disappointed in the action of the court in granting review of validity of PWA loans and grants for construction of municipal power plants. More than 50 injunction suits to halt construction of plants are pending.

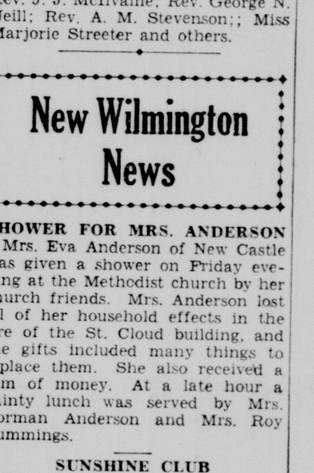

The court's action thus throws a cloud of uncertainty over one phase of the administration's power program until the cases can be argued and decided next fall or winter.

The high court's refusal to review validity of the Wheeler-Rayburn Utility Act on petition of the Electric Bond and Share Co., and others was a disappointment both to huge utility interests and to the government. The government had joined in a request for interpretation of the law.

Lawyers assumed that the high court denied review so that the case can take its course through the circuit court of appeals. If this is correct—and the court gave no reason for its action—denial of review lacks special significance. But if the high court thought the act valid, the action is a smashing victory for the administration.

Maurice L. Nixon, recruiting officer for the United States Navy from this district was relieved from duty Tuesday by Leo A. Riley. Nixon has been granted a 30-day period of leave from the Navy service, and Riley was sent from the main station in Pittsburgh to fill the position during Nixon's absence.

Sometime during the month of August Nixon will be transferred to the west coast where he will be assigned to ship duty. At this time, the local station will be in charge of another officer who has not yet been chosen.

Riley is classed as Chief Signalman in the Navy, he having been in the service for the past 15 years. According to Riley, he will take Nixon's place until July 1, and he will examine recruits for entrance to the government service.

The Lewis-Ostroff bill, imposing the tax was approved by the senate late yesterday and was sent to Gov. George H. Earle for his expected signature.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

New Wage Bill Proves Problem

Multitude Of Questions Embraced In Presidents Minimum Wage Act

FIGURES BLANK IN PENDING BILLS

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—President Roosevelt's minimum wage and maximum hour regulation plan promises to develop into a problem in economics fit to make the human brain reel.

As embodied in bills simultaneously introduced in the senate and house of representatives by Senator Hugo L. Black and Representative William P. Connery, chairmen respectively of the labor committees in the two congressional chambers, the program is one which may seem comparatively easy to put through.

These bills seek the creation of a federal board of five members to fix minimum hours in all interstate industries, and minimum wages, with fairly increased pay for overtime. Also, products of child labor are barred in interstate trade.

Figures are left blank in the pending bills.

Tre prescribed number of legalized hours per week, the rate of pay, the increased rate for overtime and the age limit for child workers remain to be settled in the course of constitutional debate.

But the principle is clear enough.

It likewise is suggested that a subboard will be needed for each important industry or group of industries, with the main board of five doing the co-ordinating.

This begins to complicate matters, since it involves a balancing of industry against industry—reasonable profits and all that.

FEWER HOURS NOW

However, those are details.

To consider the general proposition:

As I have heard ex-Statistician Ethelbert Stewart of the labor department express ti, "Time was, when production was so slow, being practically all by hand, that men had to toil from sun to sun to turn out enough to go around."

With the advent of work-saving machinery this pressure was relieved.

Yet only by degrees. Within my own recollection a 60-hour week was the standard. In some industries it was 72; in some more. I have worked 90, as a newspaperman—and with no overtime pay.

WHERE IS THE LINE?

Well, with labor-saving methods, these excessive hours began to be cut down—to 8 or less per day.

Labor's story was that, less inhumanly exploited, the worker's efficiency was so greatly enhanced that he produced more than he had before—more in an eight-hour day than he had in a day of 10 or 12 hours.

I think this is likely.

I think he may produce more in a 30-hour week than in a week of 35 or 40 hours.

But somewhere a point must be reached where he will produce less.

TOO MUCH ALREADY?

Now, have we got too much already?

I do not think many folk will say so.

There can be unbalanced production. I may have an unnecessary accumulation of potatoes, momentarily, in my bin, with too few clothes in my closet.

But there just simply is not too much, broadly considered.

And yet it looks, according to our queer reckoning, as if we had such a thing as the impossibility—overproduction, not unbalanced production.

A PUZZLE FOR NEW BOARD

Up to the proposed new board are the issues:

Production; consumption; distribution; balance; fair division; the eccentricities of technocracy; temporary trade trends; God knows what all.

As our new society evolves itself the thing may become comprehensible.

It is a puzzle at present.

That prospective new board will have to do some guessing.

Zionist Affair Sunday Evening

Mass Meeting Of Jewry Next Sunday Night At Tifereth Israel

GUEST SPEAKER WILL BE HEARD

A mass meeting this Sunday, June 6, at 8 p. m. in Tifereth Israel synagogue will be conducted in the interest of strengthening the New Castle district organization of the Zionist Movement.

The activities of the Zionist local district have branched out to all Jewish groups in the city, with prominent men vitally interested in the re-building of the homeland—Palestine.

Receives Scroll For Safety Record

Highway Superintendent John B. Shaw Gets Trophy For Remarkable Record

Done with a high degree of craftsmanship, the scroll awarded to John B. Shaw, superintendent of highways of Lawrence county, for a no-lost-time accident record of 31 months, has been received and is now hanging in the highway department offices.

The scroll is done in the form of a keystone with a background of gold. Topping the keystone is the emblem of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The Keystone is done in a light blue while the supporting brackets are done in a gray blue on which are drawn the implements used in the engineering and highway work.

At the top of the keystone in a semi-circle is "Commonwealth of Pennsylvania". The inscription reads as follows: "Department of Highways, Safety Award, No Lost Time Accidents Since November 1, 1934. Award to Engineering District 11, for Maintenance District 11-3, John B. Shaw superintendent, presented by J. E. Burke, District Engineer, May 17, 1937."

At the bottom of the scroll are the signatures of the following officials: Governor George H. Earle, Secretary of the Commonwealth David Lawrence, Secretary of Highways Warren Van Dyke, Chief Engineer H. H. Temple, District Engineer J. E. Burke.

The scroll is a handsome thing and is the work of artists in the highway office in Pittsburgh. It will hang on the walls of the highway department, a memento of a remarkable safety record, but it is hoped will be replaced later with a scroll bespeaking an even finer record.

Dietrich Hurls No-Hit Game As White Sox Win

St. Louis Browns Fail To Get Hit Or Run Off Of Philadelphia Castoff

INDIANS UPSET DETROIT 4-3

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 2.—Baseball's hall of fame has a new member today—Bill Dietrich of the Chicago White Sox—who won his place among the immortals yesterday by pitching a no-hit, no-run game against the St. Louis Browns.

If he never wins another game, the big bespectacled right hander has at least earned a permanent spot alongside such famous pitchers as Walter Johnson, Carl Hubbell, Charley Robertson, Addie Joss, Fred Toney, Ernie Shore, Cy Young, Vernon Kennedy and others of the no-hit brigade.

Like Dietrich, Kennedy and Robertson pitched their masterpieces in White Sox uniforms.

Walked Two Men.

Two passes and an error by Piet were all that stood between Dietrich and a perfect game. In that respect, his performance doesn't match those turned in by Robertson, Young, Shore and Joss, who didn't permit a man to reach first in their classics.

Strangely enough, unlike most others who have turned in no-hitters, Dietrich has never shown anything to indicate he had a no-hitter up his sleeve. Johnson, Shore and others were great pitchers long before they won their place in the hall of fame.

But Dietrich was a disappointment to Connie Mack for years and when old Connie turns thumbs down on a pitcher, that pitcher usually never amounts to much.

To add lustre to his achievement, Dietrich earned his spurs against a team which, if it can do nothing else, certainly can hit. Beau Bell who boasts a .385 average, Sam West with .383 and Clift with .339 were among the sluggers who couldn't get a hit off him.

Indians Win.

The only other American league game of the day saw the Indians again coming from behind to top the Tigers, 4-3.

The Giants trimmed the Dodgers, 5-2, in the only National league contest.

This game, which the Dodgers played without Buddy Hassett, only served to stress the fact that this is the unluckiest season baseball has had in years.

Not one major league team has escaped the jinx of either illness or injury and of them all none has been harder hit than the Dodgers.

FIREMEN AND INDIES TIED

Score Is 4-4 As Game At Cedar Street Field Is Called In Seventh Inning

The Sixth Ward Firemen and the Lawrence Indies battled to a 4-4 deadlock at the Cedar street field last night in a city league game. The game was halted in the last of the seventh by darkness.

Wylie Shiek and Majocha were the opposing hurlers and both pitched nice ball, the former allowed eight hits and the latter five hits. Shiek fanned eight men.

The Firemen led 7 to 4 in the last of the seventh when the game was called and the score reverted back to the sixth inning. It was too dark to pitch and Shiek walked off the mound. The Indies were in the midst of a rally at the time. Manager Zidow had just sent Duncho, a dangerous hitter, to the plate with two men on base when Umpire Fabian called the game.

Mosley, A. Baker and Majocha had two hits apiece for the "Red Caps".

New Titan Coach Has Fine Record

Washabaugh Has Developed Notables In High School Ranks

HAS GOOD SQUAD FOR TITAN SEASON

GROVER C. WASHABAUGH

NEW WILMINGTON, June 2.—Following close in the footsteps of Coach John Lawther, who built up a reputation for making "great players" at Westminster College, will come a new Titan coach, Grover C. Washabaugh, also a maker of "athletic greats."

At Pittsburgh's South Side high school, Washabaugh, whose personality has won for him the title "genial Washabaugh," developed such stars as Spotovich, 1934 All-City end, and center on the All-Star basketball selections for three years, at present on Pitt's first-string five; Bill Jesko, a teammate at Pitt, and outstanding scorer for the Panthers; and Miscevics, 1937 Carnegie Tech football captain.

Preceding his nine-year sojourn at South high, Pittsburgh, Washabaugh coached for four years at South Hills, where he produced three sectional basketball championships and two football titles. At South, Washabaugh picked up two all-state titles in basketball and was a consistent winner of the all-city award.

In basketball, Washabaugh will inherit one of the strongest senior squads in the history of the college, with Backus, Youngstown, at center; Grubb and Demo, forwards, high-point scorers on the 1936-37 squad; and Krivosh, Miller, and Gilliland, guards. In football, the prospects will be a little dimmed by the loss of such backs as Laraway, Erie; Bailey, Sharon; Brown, S. Orange, N. J.; and Mintz, Butler; and Krulatz, Butler; Harder, Etna; and Butler, New Castle, in the line. With good freshman material, however, Coach Washabaugh should be able to turn in good results with a Titan schedule that is lighter than usual. The new Titan mentor will have E. Wright, Bellevue, a powerful fullback, back on the squad, in addition to some excellent sophomore material in Laposki, Miller, and Youkers, in addition to the regular Titan varsity.

With the coming of Coach Washabaugh, Westminster will probably revive baseball or track as the varsity spring sport, in addition to tennis and golf.

NEW CASTLE LEAGUE

Conn's kept up their winning streak in the New Castle Golf League, by defeating Haney's 4-2 at the Sylvan Heights Course last evening, two of their points being gained via the forfeit work.

Reynolds, Summers and McCann kept their second place lead by a 4-2 victory over Johnson Bronze. The results of other matches were as follows: New Castle News 3, Shenango Pottery 3; Colalucas 4, Unions 2; Melvins 4½, Hardware Merchants 1½; Cities Service 3, Blair Strip Steel 3; Universal Sanitary Manufacturing 3, Pennsylvania R. R. 3.

As a result of a playoff between Colalucas and Reynolds, Summers and McCann, in a match which had originally been scheduled between Rieck-McJunkin and Reynolds, Summers and McCann, a tie score resulted 3-3, which pulled Reynolds, Summers and McCann a little further away from the league leaders.

Friday evening, New Castle News and Colalucas will play off the match which was scheduled for Rieck-McJunkin earlier in the season.

There was plenty of hot scoring last evening, Willie Grommes shooting a par round of 36, while Bill Fleming had a 37, and Matt Honkonen and Earl Jarrett 39's. Joe Mazzeri, Prof. C. W. McKee, Jack Fisher, Louis Malls, Peter Dimico, Mickey Murdock, Chrobak, and Walt Vogan, all had 40's.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

One of the most unique baseball games yet played was staged at Dedham, Mass., when the Dedham vs. Hingham high school game ended in a no-hit game yet Dedham won 2 to 0 and to Charley Landers went the greater glory for having pitched a no-hit, no run game. Landers, a right-hander lost his chance for a perfect game when the Deadham shortstop juggled a slow roller and allowed the batter to reach base, the only Hingham man to do so. Johnny Cole of Hingham was wild in scoring his no hit game. He granted two passes and two wild throws combined with an error allowed the two Dedham runs. Together the hurlers struck out 29, Landers accounting for 16 and Cole a left-hander, retiring 13.

Perifox, owned by William Woodward today goes after the one hundred and fifty eight Derby at Epsom Downs, won only once by an American-bred horse. In That Winner was Pierre Lorillard's Iroquois. Three other Americans have seen their colors borne home first, but they were carried on foreign-bred horses. Perifox, a son of Gallant Fox, is ranked among the six leading contenders. Cash Book, LeKsar, Le Grand Duc, Solfo and Goya are other horses favored to take the event.

This is an attractive game and will start at 6 o'clock. In event of good weather a big crowd will no doubt wend its way to the Ryantown field.

Sam Snead And Harrison Lead Open Qualifying

(International News Service)

A field of 172 golfers today was qualified for the National Open to be played June 10-12 at Birmingham, Mich. The group included 30 low scorers and ties in the open last year. Al Watrous, host pro, and 139 players who emerged from qualifying play conducted throughout the nation.

Eight qualified on the Pacific coast last month and the rest came through yesterday to whittle an entry of more than 1,400 to the comparative handful which will start the championship proper.

Snead Has 136

The pace was set for the qualifiers by Sam Sneed, the all around athlete and young pro playing at Huntington, W. Va., and Dutch Harrison, who competed at Little Rock, Ark. Each carried a total of 136 for 36 holes yesterday. Snead put together rounds of 71 and 65, while Harrison played a 69-67.

Third among the day's low scorers was Orville White of Greensboro, N. C., who turned in a 74-64—138, his afternoon round being low for the day.

The outstanding performance among amateurs was credited to Crawford Rainwater, who qualified at Atlanta with 70-70—140.

Among the notables who failed to earn a place in the starting field were Chick Evans, a former champion; Leo Diegel, Abe and Al Espinosa, Reynolds Smith, Roland McKenzie, Charley Yates, Johnny Lehman and Gene Kuhnes.

The Tropi-tex Suit

To the eye, the famous Tropi-tex Suit looks exactly like a fine year-'round business suit. In essential details it is exactly like a regular weight suit. The vital difference lies in the fact that Tropi-tex is remarkably light in weight and extremely cool.

The Tropi-tex cloth is a pure worsted just like the fabrics used in your regular clothing, except that it is very thin and of an open, porous construction. This fabric is unusually shape-retaining and hence wrinkles less and holds a crease longer. The cloth is so alive that it actually irons itself out as it hangs in the closet overnight after a hot, wilting day.

The business man who is unwilling to make special concessions in his appearance because of Summer heat and humidity will welcome the cool comfort and the restrained, tasteful styling of this really excellent suit.

Midday Sun Is Epsom Winner

Winner Of Famous Classic At Epsom Downs Today Owned By Mrs. G. Miller

SAND SPRITE FINISHES SECOND

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

EPSOM, Eng., June 2.—American hopes for a long-sought victory in the English derby were dashed today when Mrs. G. Miller's Midday Sun romped home the winner.

Sand Sprite finished second and Le Grand Duc third.

The finish left all the outstanding favorites in the cold.

Favorites Disappoint.

William Woodward's Perifox, on which chief American hopes had been centered, proved a disappointment.

So did Lord Astor's Cash Book, the chief favorite, and Le Kzar, second choice in the betting.

American horses had drawn fair positions on the track. Ralph Beaver Strassburger's Le Bambino, American owned but European-bred, was in No. 6. Perifox was in nine and Le Kzar in 14, traditionally a lucky number at Epsom.

The 158th renewal of the classic of all British racing was run on a hard ,fast track and under grey skies. More than 200,000 persons witnessed the event, including King George and Queen Elizabeth and many other representatives of the royal family.

There was also a fan dancer—the first in Epsom's history—who had a booth all to herself on the grounds.

Want Schmeling To Meet Pastor

But Maxie Has Other Ideas, Wants To Meet Jim Braddock Or Nobody

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 2—It's all a swell idea and everything is probably all right—only Jimmy Johnson, who match-makes for Madison Square Garden and owns one of the principals, is all for Schmeling versus Bob Pastor at Long Island Bowl on the night of June 17, with the idea of beating Chicago to the punch.

In other words, all they want is the New York commission to declare Jim Braddock's heavyweight title vacant and you'll have two champions and everything will be just splendid—except that Schmeling will have no part of it. He was in town yesterday with no opponent and he declared—I believe—that he was prepared to have no portion of anything.

Some Situation

In other words, the Pastor meeting is a great idea, except that Schmeling is old fashioned and doesn't agree. He thinks the accepted world's heavyweight challenger should meet the world's heavyweight champion for the title and, in fact, is prepared to become insistent on this point.

And, that is approximately the way the heavyweight situation stands today, on the eve of what was supposed to be a Braddock-Schmeling bout in the Long Island bowl for the championship.

Schmeling came in from Speculator, N. Y., where he has been in training for a month for no fight whatsoever and pronounced himself fit, willing, eager and, in short, ready. All he needs is an opponent.

That simplifies everything, especially in view of the fact that Schmeling doesn't want to meet Pastor or some other substitute. The boxing commission assured him some time ago that he would be given first chance at Braddock. Now all the commission has to do is produce the champion.

RADS OUT TO TROUNCE SAKS

Softball fans are on edge for one of the most important tussles of the first half race of the City Softball league.

The game concerns the Saks and Radiator clubs. The time is tonight at 6 and the place is the National Radiator field. The setting is something like this: Saks undefeated and possessors of first place. Rads are in second place and have a golden opportunity of getting right in the top should they win.

The Saks boast of a powerful lineup in: J. Bullano, left fielder, F. Copple, center fielder, S. Bullano, right fielder, N. Russo, short stop, P. Zingaro, third baseman, J. DeFiore, second sacker, F. Alfera, first sacker, N. Genock, short stop, J. Fava, catcher, T. Capp, F. Augostine, E. Fava, pitchers, and N. Cagnetti and F. Naples, substitutes.

Graduate 166 At Commencement

Capacity Audience Participates In Fine Program For Large Class

ADDRESS GIVEN BY DR. L. F. SHAFFER

ELLWOOD CITY, June 2.—One of the largest classes in the history of the local school system was graduated at commencement exercises Tuesday night at Lincoln auditorium. One hundred and sixty-six received diplomas from Dr. H. E. Helling, president of the school board, before a capacity audience.

The high school band played a prominent part in the evening's program. After the invocation by the Rev. A. M. Stevenson, the salutatory on "The Constitution and What It Means to Me" was given by Miss Delores M. Unger. After extending welcome to all in behalf of the class, Miss Unger declared that fate will determine who will be great amongst them. She gave a fine talk on the Constitution of the United States; what it has done and what it represents. She compared the situation in this country with that of Europe, where no freedom of thought, speech or action exists. This is the land of the free and of opportunity.

This was followed with a baritone solo, "Down on the Farm", by Edwin Gamble, who was accompanied by the band.

Miss Helen E. Brandes gave the valedictory on "Educational Adjustments". She told of the early forms of education, from its start in the church, to the one-room building, up to the present large magnificent constructions. With this she told of the change in teaching system and curriculum, which help lead to an adjustment to the social and economic conditions. Education here today is the best that exists. Turning to the class, she gave a touching farewell parting.

Dr. Shaffer Speaks

The address of the evening was delivered by Dr. Laurence F. Shaffer, whose subject was "The Education of Yourself". Dr. Shaffer is the director of the summer session of Carnegie Tech. He was introduced by Superintendent of Schools Vaughn R. DeLong.

The speaker stated that education is the development of the individual life as a person, for he is judged more by what kind of a person he is than what skill or ability he may possess. Studiousness, freedom of thought and action require a broader outlook. You develop an occupation or skill in school, but most of all you develop character and personality. What your reaction to difficulties and social obligations are will go a long way in explaining your personality.

A person with good character and personality will have ability and know how to use it to advantage. He will know his job and be a pleasing person. The one with a good education and personality will go after a hard problem in life in a calm and efficient manner and will make no excuses for his errors. The speaker stated that personal habits are learned and not inherited. Personal habits are learned by doing things yourself. The home, parents, schools and teachers are important cogs in developing character and personality. The present system of education is taking up the individual needs and arrange a curriculum to correspond. The speaker told of the contrast of the education today and many years ago. Each person today is treated as an individual. A good relationship between the child and parents has an important bearing on personality as well as things learned by yourself. Understanding things yourself and understanding the needs of your fellow man, and then lending a helping hand, will bring an individual a long way through life. Being able to make an analysis of yourself will lead one to do so of the everyday problems of life. A good sense of humor will go a long way in developing character, Dr. Shaffer asserted. Co-operation with others and social contacts are also important. Good friendships where one may discuss personal problems are essential.

To educate yourself in a good scientific method is to take all the available facts, make an analysis and put it into practice. To the class he said that their education had only begun. Many will go to higher institutions of learning and others will work, but do not neglect the greatest aim of education—that is, the education of yourself, said the speaker in closing.

The graduating class was then presented by Principal Ralph C. Shaffer as Dr. Helling gave out the diplomas. The exercises closed with the pronouncement of the benediction by the Rev. Stevenson.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL.

The parking meter question again comes to our attention . . . this day brings forth some words from the North Hill . . . the writer wishes his name to be mum but he says that his words are words of many . . . this is the way it goes . . . Our friend is doing the talking . . . "Suppose I have some shopping to do at four or five different stores . . . let's say the Farmer's Supply, Sears, Haney, New Castle Dry and Eckerds . . . it will take but a few minutes to buy at most places . . . some of them will take longer than the allotted time . . . but each time I will have to pay one nickle to park . . . even when I go in to pay my telephone bill I will have to pay a nickle . . . I am a taxpayer here in New Castle and who has more right to park on the streets than I do . . . I would rather drive to another town than pay a nickle" . . . there is one citizen's story.

May this column take a little part in the picture . . . just a few thoughts that the mayor passed on . . . How many of you people have ever witnessed a parking meter town . . . if you are ignorant of this experience then I can't see where you have any right saying anything for or against the system . . . from our own lips . . . it won't cost anything to try and if it doesn't work then the boosters of the idea will be satisfied.

To the person that wrote the answer atthe top of the column . . . I take it from your letter that you do a little double parking . . . you double park because you can get away with it . . . the same as everybody else . . . don't you think this is taking an unfair advantage of the town's people or police . . . after all we surely don't need police to watch over us every minute to see if we obey the law . . . some countries do that sort of thing and let me tell you it's no fun . . think over your own behavior in traffic . . . you are still entitled to your own thoughts . . . don't forget that.

The Annual May Day Coronation Festival put about 500 dollars in the band uniform fund . . . the Croton Band will receive 25 dollars and the Ben Franklin Band 50 dollars . . . this money is to be used for what they see fit . . . the council hopes to outfit all the bands in the future.

Steels, Motors And Coppers Lead In Market Upturn Today

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Finan-Writer

NEW YORK, June 2.—Stocks today recovered as much as two points of the losses sustained on Tuesday but part of the gains were erased by light realizing later.

Leaders in yesterday's reaction were in the van of the recovery movement, including steels, motors, coppers, rails and rubbers.

Despite the sharp drop in steel operations, resulting from the strikes in independent plants, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic each moved about a point above previous closing levels.

In a firm carrier division, such issues as N. Y. Central, Atchison, Southern Pacific, and Baltimore & Ohio held most of early advances running to over a point.

Douglas Aircraft jumped 2 points in aviations on reports of a pending contract from the army for bombing planes. United Aircraft gained half as much.

Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, American Telephone and International Harvester held advances of 2 points.

Bonds were strong, under the lead of convertible and rail issues. Grains eased. Cotton lost part of early gains.

UNBREAKABLE SPECTACLES IN PROCESS

Anglo-Belgian Inventor Sees Unbreakable Glasses For Everyone Soon

(International News Service)

NEW YORK—Unbreakable spectacles will soon be available to every American, it was recently predicted by Peter Koch de Gooreynd, Anglo-Belgian inventor, who demonstrated to American physicists and optical experts a new process for moulding optical lenses from a transparent plastic which was recently introduced in England.

"Optical experts told me that two out of 10 Americans today wear spectacles for reading or for correcting sight defects and seven out of 10 need them but cannot afford them. Even in modern England, many school children used to suffer because their parents could not afford to buy them needed glasses."

Koch de Gooreynd pointed out that this difficulty will be overcome by the plastic lenses since it will be possible to turn them out by the thousand from a single optical mould, eliminating the long and expensive grinding and polishing which each glass lens today undergoes.

Lens grinding companies estimate that 400 standard lenses will correct 60 per cent of all eye defects, so that the inventor will have to prepare at least 400 dies ground to 1-500,000 of an inch.

Camera lenses, range finders, binoculars and other optical instruments may also be moulded out of the unbreakable material. "Before very long every schoolboy will be able to have his own candid camera," Koch de Gooreynd said.

"When it was suggested to me in New York that I also turn out unbreakable monocles for London's clubmen, I thought it a topping idea," the inventor pointed out, "except for the fact that Englishmen have practically given up wearing them.

"Monocles belong to an earlier day when the man of leisure in London could fix his expression with his monocle in the morning and not move an eyelid all day long. All that has changed. Nearly everyone in England has to work today, from the highest to the lowest, and there is neither the time nor inclination for such affectations as monocles."

Last Training Session Is Held

In-Service Training Of Lawrence-Mercer Leaders Comes To End

The climax of the In-Service Training sessions of the Lawrence and Mercer county leaders of W. P. A. Adult Education came Tuesday with the final union session. A caravan of cars left the Y. W. C. A. at 9 A. M. for Union Valley where nature study occupied the hours until noon.

Mrs. Agnes B. Howley, county supervisor of Lawrence county, who is well known for her knowledge of trees, gardens, shrubs and flowers, talked informally to the group on the wild flowers, specimens of which were found in the valley. A feature of the morning was the making of dish-gardens by the various members of the group, some lovely finished products, filled with flowers and moss, were taken home by the group.

Leaving Union Valley about noon, the group trekked to Gaston Park where Francis DeSanctis and his committee had prepared a delicious picnic lunch for the group. After the inner-man had been substantially satisfied, the group, led by Owen Fox, city forester, wandered over Gaston Park, admiring the lovely trees and shrubs that have been planted for the beautification of the park since the site was given to the community.

Mr. Fox pointed out the various kinds of trees and shrubs and told of the work that has been done for the good of the community in the past four years, although he greatly deplored the fact that much vandalism has depredated the park in the past few days. Mr. Fox has spent a great deal of time in searching our wild birds and animals for his little zoo, but over the past week end some persons or persons have invaded his domain and taken away many of the birds and animals that he has worked so hard to get.

This session on in-service training marked the last of the union sessions of Mercer and Lawrence counties.

The services will continue through Sunday night with Rev. Lindberg bringing the messages.
